

Justin Shull

The Workshop

Public Art Event

5538 Dyer Street, Dallas, TX

Saturday, January 29, 2011

6:00 – 9:00 P.M

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Free Museum of Dallas and Justin Shull present The Workshop, a one-evening event featuring Shull's recent projects, sculptures and a new video installation. For The Workshop, Shull examines the architecture of an artist's hypothetical space. The studio, gallery and recreational landscape converge in a raw warehouse space at 5538 Dyer Street in Dallas. Come for good company, fake surprises, live beats mixed by DJ War Horse and to meet the Porta Hedge, Terrestrial Shrub Rover, Monster Log, Fresh Glade and many other friendly objects.

Justin Shull is an artist and designer based in Dallas. He has recently exhibited at Grounds for Sculpture in Hamilton, NJ, Blue Star Contemporary Art in San Antonio, TX, Leedy-Volkous Art Center in Kansas City, MO and EYEBEAM in New York City. Justin is the recipient of awards from the Joan Mitchell Foundation and the International Sculpture Center and a fellowship from the College Art Association.

Please contact Leila Grothe at info@freemuseumofdallas.com for more information.

www.justinshull.net

www.freemuseumofdallas.com